Summary
Pegasus is a publication which consists of “the award winning entries from the annual Bergen County Writing Contest.”¹ This competition is sponsored by the Bergen Community College English Department, and for many years was coordinated by faculty member Geoffrey Sadock. Pegasus showcases the literary work of Bergen County high school students. It features poetry, scholarly essays, short stories, personal essays, drama, and “recent American” essays.²

Quantity: 3 boxes (3 cubic feet); see Processing Note
Dates: 1988 – 2012
Creator: Bergen County high school students, Geoffrey Sadock, etc.

Scope and Content
The Pegasus collection highlights the award-winning creative writing of Bergen County high school students. The materials currently range from 1988 to 2012. Although the collection includes the majority of this publication, it currently does not include 1990-1992, 1994-1997, 2004-2005, and 2007. The volumes are either soft covered or spiral bound and are in good physical condition.

Arrangement Note
The volumes are arranged in chronological order. The date ranges are indicated on each box. Dividers have been placed between volumes to indicate any issues that are currently not included in the collection. For example, a divider has been placed between the 1989 volume and the 1993 volume, and has been labeled to show that the 1990-1992 volumes are currently not part of the collection.

Processing Note
As a result of the ongoing publication of Pegasus, this collection’s inventory will be updated as new volumes are added to the collection.
